Well Sid - you gave me lots of laughs this year. I'm glad we got to be good friends - because you are a unique person. We've got a couple good memories & one secret - right? Right! Really & Sincerely I think you're a great Sid & you've got a lot to offer - both mentally & otherwise, take it however you want to. I'll be sad when you leave for I.U. - but I have a funny feeling that we'll keep in touch. So good luck & be careful (as if that will change your whole outlook on life!) You're a great Kid - Love ya' - Helen

Sandy

Well where do I begin. It seems so funny that I didn't even know you until pledging started. I wonder what would of happened if I didn't start calling you in the morning. We've had some pretty good times this year. They were great, you really made my Sophomore year worth remembering. I'll always remember the phone (2:30? - 7:30?), Mark Alan, Mike, Alan, pledging, Presidential, and many others. That really about all. Good luck next year in school and remember you friend still in this hole

Sandy,

"Golly gee whiz . . . golly ned" I don't know what to write. I guess the thing we have most in common is "what's-his name". We really did have good fun in Chemistry – those little talks about the above mentioned. You have one of the cutest personalities I've ever seen anyone have, and whenever I came into 5th period 1969 BEXLEO class depressed, I usually came out fine – because you're so funny... I could laugh. Thanks for helping on the BEXLEO this year – that section was really tough. Also, thanks for all the other little favors you've done – Shall I name Volume 33 them? The best was our birthday present to Jon – I'll never forget – that was the absolute best trick. Good luck at Indiana next year, and if you come back and be Jon's roommate, Published by the I'll be really jealous!! remember that. Remember me always.

Senior Class

Sincerest best wishes Sandy.

Love,
Laura N.

P.S. I also enjoyed the cute stories you'd always tell about your dates – that was the funniest – Poor ol' Bexley, Ohio John Davis, or whatever his name was.

"Viewpoint depends on where you stand. The basis of a man's judgment is the by-product of his experience; perspective changes constantly with the passing of time and the growth of wisdom."

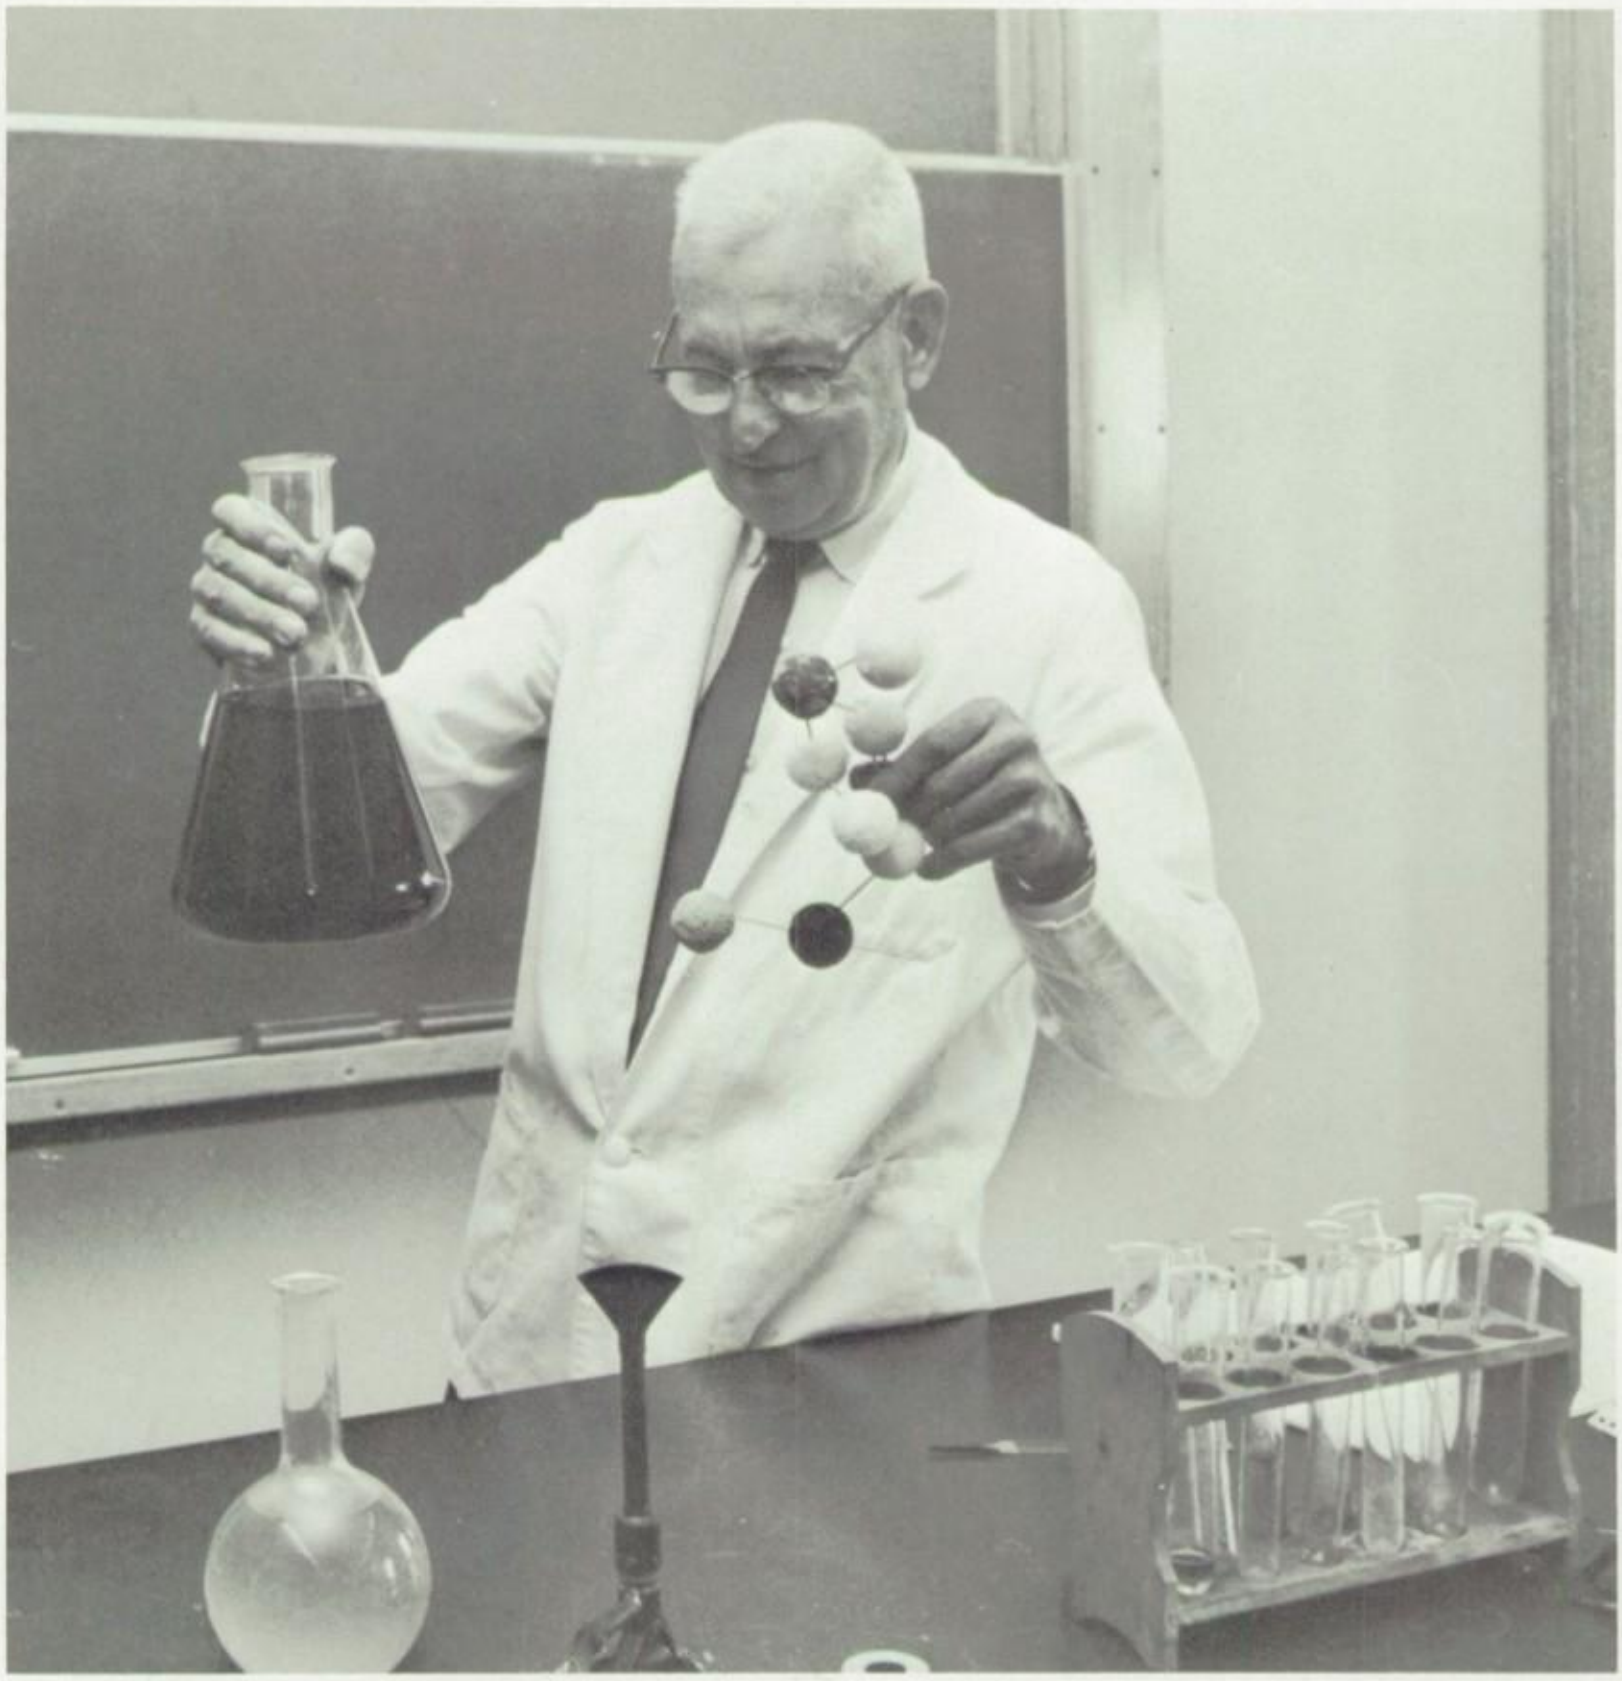
DEDICATION



To Carlton H. Smith, one of Bexley High students' favorite teachers, who has consistently challenged his pupils to do their best in the courses he has taught and in the sports he has coached, we dedicate the 1969 BEXLEO.

Coach Smith has done much for Bexley High School and its students since he began teaching in 1922. He has coached Bexley teams as long as the school has been in existence. Over the years he has coached football, basketball, tennis, baseball, track, and golf, and he has also served as athletic coordinator. Coach Smith has taught chemistry, modern science, health, physical education, and agriculture to Bexley students.

In his spare time Coach Smith enjoys gardening, golfing, and fishing. He likes photography and is a world traveler, having worked his way to Europe as a waiter on an ocean liner. Coach has spent his summers counseling boys at Camp Wigwaseti on Lake Ontario.

Coach Smith is known for such colorful phrases as "You know as much about sulfur as a hog does about Sunday" and "you don't have to be a Philadelphia lawyer." His humorous expressions, corny jokes, and amusing names for students have enlivened his classes over the years.

It is in gratitude for this impressive record of service to students, both as a teacher and as a coach, that the Class of 1969 dedicates this book to Carlton H. Smith.

FACULTY

The Faculty Observes and

Dear Students,

Consider, if you will, the lot of the poor carpet beetle, who spends his total lifetime in the limited confines of a dark and dismal world. Contrast him, then, with the free and soaring eagle, who views with majesty the panorama of a constantly changing landscape beneath his widespread wings.

For the class that has chosen "Perspectives" as its yearbook theme, it will be easy to see the meaning of the two illustrations above. As freshman students, you appeared on the scene with a somewhat limited view of the future. Now as graduating seniors you have experienced the joy of seeing your perspectives expand to include the wider world beyond.

As you prepare to leave Bexley High School for the new life ahead, it is our sincere hope that you may now and again be reminded of this book's theme. In these confused and rapidly changing times, the world of tomorrow may offer sorrow and despair for those of small vision and narrow perspective. But for those who would constantly seek to expand their horizons, from the "bug's eye view" to the "bird's eye view," the future will offer unlimited opportunity and challenge.

With faith in your ability to meet these great new challenges, I offer you my warmest regards and very best wishes for continued success.

Sincerely,
William J. Gregg
Superintendent

Participates in Bexley Activities

Everyone views Bexley in a different perspective. The ten teachers new to Bexley saw our school for the first time. Perhaps they noticed the competitive spirit of the Bexley students. In addition, they may have participated in our extensive extracurricular activities by performing in the Band Parents Show, coaching and assisting with sports events, and chaperoning our dances. Even the teachers who had been at Bexley previously noticed a change in our student body. They saw our undaunted spirit and our perseverance in all events. Certainly every faculty member heard the excited chatter and shouted greetings that punctuated the time between classes. The teachers' observations and participation in our many activities helped make the past year an enjoyable one.

SENIORS

New Perspectives Open Up for Seniors

Looking into the past, seniors could see signs of triumph and tragedy that marked their four years at Bexley High School. Although "An Award Winning Film" did not take the top honors in the float competition, "Gone with the Wind" proved to be one of the most imaginative and successful proms held at Bexley. Freshman foul-ups, sophomore stubbornness, junior college boards, and finally "senioritis" took their toll and became memories.

In athletics, the Senior Class had some of the most outstanding sportsmen in Bexley history. Members of the Class of 1969 participated in winning seasons in all varsity sports. Girls' sports were also exceptional; the girls' hockey team won Hockey Night three years in a row and varsity basketball had excellent records of competition.

The Senior Class had no lack of scholars. There were three National Merit Semi-Finalists. Senior members contributed substantially to the Bexley team's success on the "In the Know" program. Several seniors took part in journalistic competition and others made excellent scores on the Mathematics Association of America test. Several members of the class won college scholarships. Bexley seniors also participated in such programs as the "Conference on the Atom" and Buckeye Boys' and Girls' States.

As they looked to the future, a whole new world opened up for the graduated Class of 1969. Many went into college, while others entered training for their careers. The Class of 1969 will probably always remember their four years at Bexley, and it is not likely that Bexley High School will soon forget its "Class of '69."

Bexley Welcomes Norwegian

This year the students of Bexley greeted a lovely, blue-eyed Norwegian girl named Anne Karin Berggrav. She came to the United States through the A.F.S. program because she is interested in people.

Anne found that schools all around the world are basically the same. At Bexley she took fewer courses than she would have taken at her other school in Oslo, but her class periods were shorter in Norway. Anne's favorite course was English taught by Mrs. Lighttiser.

Anne lived with her American family, Mr. and Mrs. Pobereskin and Ann, who helped her to adapt easily to her new home and school.

Because this year was a memorable experience for Anne, she hopes to come back to America soon. Bexley students will be looking forward to her return.

VICTORY

As upperclassmen, the juniors adjusted quickly to their new position and asserted their leadership by being represented on the fighting varsity, on intramural teams, in clubs, and in committee offices. Both the excitement and hard work of college seemed to loom nearer as they confronted interviews and college boards.

The victories of the float, "Breakfast of Champions," and Hockey Night were the result of teamwork and active spirit. The Christmas hall decorations showed the careful planning and creativity characteristic of the juniors.

Work toward the prom began early in the year with the selling of Bexley High notebooks, concessions, and baked goods. Later juniors traipsed around the neighborhood delivering Halloween candy. Ideas for theme and decorations, despite a variety of opinions, were finally organized and after much hard work were the basis of a very successful prom.

Memories of the challenges and achievements of the Class of 1970 made their junior year very rewarding and their approaching senior year promising.

Sophs Work Toward Upperclass Status

As the Sophomore Class adjusted to the second year of high school, they saw a different perspective than they had seen as freshmen. Most knew the difference between room 130A and B, the up and down staircases, and Larry and Perry Smith. The majority could actually recite the study hall rules and their own locker numbers. They enjoyed more power in extracurricular activities and displayed talent they had acquired throughout their school years in choir, art, dramatics, band and other fields. The sophomores successfully met the challenge of the required courses in health and driver education. Influenced to some extent by the required class reading of Silas Marner and by the class advisor, Mrs. Pfaff, president Don Dick organized several money-raising projects. Showing creativity and teamwork, the sophomores built the float, "Mid-Eighth in the Side Pocket." Members of the class were kept busy by selling concessions at wrestling meets, home-baked goodies at bake sales, and tickets for the movie they sponsored during semester break. Their participation in social and athletic activities, as well as their application to their subjects, proved to be the initiative which started the Class of 1971 toward a successful future as upperclassmen.

Freshmen Adapt to High School Life

Like every Freshman Class, the Class of '72 felt somewhat alone starting the school year. After an hour and a half of briefing, they were turned out, excited, fearful, and full of anticipation, into a world of upperclassmen. Confusion reigned, with students trying to read schedules and find rooms. These experiences provided the perspective with which the freshmen viewed the school year.

The newcomers soon learned that the upperclassmen were not as terrible as they had expected and that there was some semblance of order in the arrangement of rooms. The freshmen then took on money-making tasks such as bake sales and Christmas candy sales. In order to increase academic production, they learned "how to study." By the end of the year, the Class of '72 had become an active part of life at Bexley High School.

Bexley Places 4th in Mid-8

This year marked Bexley's debut into the reorganized Mid-8 League and resulted in a composite record for the 1968 season of three wins and six losses.

The games in which Bexley was victorious were impressive as well as exciting. The first win came against Mifflin. The 19-0 shutout was a result of the invincible defense which held Mifflin's offense to only seven yards rushing. The second victory was against rival Grandview. The first twenty-four minutes were scoreless, but the Lions came back the second half with a shotgun offense and defeated Grandview 13-0. Bexley also beat Marysville 44-20. The highlights of the game were Bruce Legg's two fantastic touchdowns. The first was an intercepted pass which he ran back 80 yards, and the second was a 79 yard kickoff return.

The defense was led by two able juniors, Dan Sifferlin and Larry Lieberman. In addition to being elected to the All Mid-8 Team, Sifferlin was awarded the Fred Medors Award and inducted into the Shoulder Pad Club. Lieberman was Bexley's second contribution to the Mid-8 Team. He and Mark Orr were also inducted into the Shoulder Pad Club.

Millard Posts His Best Coaching Record

The 1969 edition of the Bexley Lions basketball team completed the most successful season in the past decade, placing third in the tough Mid-8 League. The only factor separating the Lions from a championship team was their lack of height. In spite of this handicap, however, the team hustled their way to a 12-6 regular season and a successful tournament record.

Captain Steve Callif and senior Scott Weakley were outstanding players for the season. Weakley led the Mid-8 and the county in scoring, and Callif ranked fourth in the league and the county. The "Dynamic Duo," as the newspapers usually referred to them, had averages of twenty-six and twenty-four points. Both were elected to the first team of the Mid-8.

The "Dynamic Duo" becomes the "Terrific Trio."

Tankers Receive New Coach

Under the new leadership of Coach Ed Rutter and co-captains Dan Kayne and Craig Honts, Bexley swimmers compiled a 3-7 record.

The sophomores with Ron Miller and Dan Buhrmaster as leading scorers were the backbone of the team. Ron Miller tied the school record in the butterfly against Worthington and was the recipient of the Bob Connell award for the most valuable swimmer. Mark Albershardt was chosen as the most improved swimmer.

Divers Dan Kayne, Fred Mendelson, and Mike Motter pulled first and second places in their competition in every meet.

Although the team did not enjoy a winning season, several returning lettermen will give next year's team added experience.

Bexley Takes Mid-8 Crown

"Champions" best describes the 1968-1969 Bexley Wrestling Team. The only blemish in the team's record was a 19-19 tie with Gahanna in the Bexley Triangular. Excluding the tie, the Grapplers were undefeated with a 9-0 record, outscoring their opponents 302-95 in dual meet competition.

This season was one of pins. Between the two captains, Bexley won ten pins: Hirsh had six and Lieberman had four. Ron Gates also earned four. The fastest pin of the season came at the Mid-Eight Championship meet when Bruce Hanners hailed his opponent in twenty-six seconds.

During the season Bexley took several other honors. They were co-champions in the Groveport Invitational. For the first time in Bexley history, the team won a league championship. The Grapplers ended the season by sending ten men, a record number, to the district meet.

Hockey Team Has Rewarding Season

Kathy Grayson and Cricket Dell bully to start the game.

Bexley's 1969 Girls' A Hockey Team, under the leadership of Kathy Grayson, finished the season with a 5-1 record, losing only to Columbus School for Girls. They returned victorious from games with Grandview, Upper Arlington, Lancaster, Worthington, and Delaware. Strong points in their game were passing and defensive techniques.

With Barb Lucks setting the pace, B Team defeated Upper Arlington 2-0. B Team learned the basic techniques of competitive hockey and gained valuable experience for future years.

SOCIAL

Bexley Homecoming

Queen Linda reigns over Homecoming.

Although Bexley was not victorious at the Homecoming game, spirits soared at the dance which was held in the high school gym from 10:00 p.m. till 12:30 a.m. Queen Linda and her court, which consisted of Mindy Klie, Lisa Margulies, Kathy Boesel, and Kathy Baumann, were honored at the festivities. Again this year, the music, provided by Marvin Reed and the Playboys, was very soulful. The atmosphere was one of informality, as indicated by Marvin Reed's acting as punch server during a break. The theme-motif was carried out by the life-like Playboy Bunnies which decorated the walls. The evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all those in attendance, and will certainly be regarded by Bexley students as one of the high spots on the '68-'69 social calendar.

Activities Add Dimensions to Social Life

The school year at Bexley was not all work and no play. Students proved themselves as able to enjoy social events as they were able to survive the homework assignments, term papers, and tests of determined teachers.

Socializing added another dimension to daily student life, beginning in the morning when students met at their lockers to exchange news while ostensibly gathering up their books for the morning's classes, and extending to the noon hour when the student lounge was crowded with chattering Bexley students and the roads were filled by the B.B.F.-for-lunch-bunch. The day ended in the afternoon as girls and boys trudged home with their books, or hurried off to their extracurricular activities.

Then, of course, there were the weekends, when loyal Lion fans congregated at the school to cheer the team on to another victory, or couples came to dance to a "soul" beat, or drama and music fans jammed the auditorium to see an excellent play put on by Bexley's Thespians or hear an enjoyable concert performed by Bexley's talented choir or band members. All of the many activities found at Bexley provided the students with an eventful social life.

Student Council Works for Student Unity

Student Council began the school year with many goals to accomplish. School spirit was the first major problem. To increase spirit at games, council members decided to continue the boys' cheering section. Homecoming was the next major issue with which the council dealt. Float building, the election of the queen, the pep rally, the parade, and the dance were all supervised by council members. Soon after Homecoming, Steve Callif resigned as president and Ralph Pariser took over. For the Student Council Christmas project representatives collected money for Franklin Village, a home for children. Also, throughout the holiday season the council was busy with plans for the annual New Year's Eve Dance held at Jeffrey Mansion. To increase basketball season spirit, the Student Council sold bumper stickers advertising "Bexley Lion Power." At the end of the year the council gave the traditional gift to the school.

Open Tryouts Held for "In the Know" Team

For the third year Bexley participated in "In the Know," a television program on which teams from high schools in the Central Ohio area compete in answering questions in the fields of art, music, history, literature, science, mathematics, and current events. This year the "In the Know" team was selected from tryouts open to all four classes. After several eliminating matches John Laird, Martin Flicker, Gary Schottenstein, Amy Segal, and Carol Friedman as alternate were chosen by Mr. Peters, the advisor, and several other faculty members. Bexley won its first match against Marion-Franklin 320-205 and went on to the finals.

Human Relations Club Examines Current Events

Human Relations Club Founders: Ralph Pariser, Roger Clayman, Amy Segel, Martin Flicker, Stanley Kayne.

The newly-formed Human Relations Club, under the advisorship of Mr. Ferns, assistant principal, proved to be a very popular innovation in Bexley extra-curricular activities.

The meetings, which were open to all Bexley students, were well-attended. The first speaker, Dr. Clayton Robert, a professor at Ohio State University, spoke on the Viet Nam War. Another professor from the O.S.U. law school, Peter Simmons, came to speak on Black Power and the problems of black students. Plans were made to expand the program of this new club next year.

Ex Libris Explores Interests Through Books

The newly established Ex Libris Club, under the guidance of Mrs. Dickman, the high school's librarian, was organized with enthusiasm and grew in membership during the year. The club's goal was to show that all types of interests can be reached through reading books.

Under the leadership of president Val Eisenstot, the Ex Libris's activities included listening to a talk by Mrs. Rogers from the Bexley Public Library and having group discussions comparing Romeo and Juliet and Camelot with their respective movies.

Y-Teens Give Service and Have Fun

Sue presides over a Y-Teens meeting.

In September the freshman girls received their draft cards – invitations to the Y-Teens Rush Party. The "soldiers," provided with dinner by their big sisters, met the officers and cabinet and played "Produce the Article."

During the fall, the members did a lot of traveling. The girls "visited" Norway as Anne Berggrav, our AFS student told of her native country at "Around the World in 80 Dishes" where they also sampled foods from all over the world. During the first weekend in November, five Y-Teens traveled to several Southern Ohio colleges on an informative and enjoyable tour sponsored by the YWCA.

Service projects included selling balloons for the Heart Fund, collecting for the Easter Seal Campaign, and volunteering to work in rest homes and hospitals through the Links Program.

To raise money, Y-Teens sponsored the Sadie Hawkins dance. The year ended with an overnight and the traditional Mother-Daughter Tea at which the new officers were announced.

Hi-Y Hits the Heights

This year as in past years Hi-Y had an extremely successful program. President Ken Leggette, along with the other officers, led the boys through many interesting activities.

As always, Bexley's Hi-Y basketball team was first rate. They participated prominently in the Columbus Hi-Y League, and ended the season undefeated with a 5-0 record.

Not only did the boys take part in the Hi-Y athletic program offered in the city, but they also interested themselves in "City Government Day." On that day several members went down to City Hall, where they joined in group discussions led by the heads of Columbus' city government. It was a rewarding experience for those who had the chance to learn about how our city is run.

G.A.C. Presents Varied Program

Sportsheads present a skit at the annual rush party.

With a larger membership than ever before, this year's Girls' Athletic Club had a busy schedule of both intramural and interscholastic sports. The intramural sports were held at noon and after school and included such sports as hockey, basketball, volleyball, badminton, tennis, softball, archery, riding, swimming, golf, gymnastics, modern dance, bowling, and table tennis. Interscholastic basketball, volleyball, and tennis teams competed against area schools. Besides their regular program of sports, G.A.C. sponsored such activities as a ski trip, an excursion to a Checkers' hockey game, class nights, and the traditional banquet during the spring, at which awards for the year were given and officers for next year were installed. President Kathy Grayson and the other members had several fund-raising activities throughout the year, such as a rummage sale at Christmas, bake sales, and concessions.

¿Habla Español?

The members of the 1968-69 Spanish Club were all Spanish-speaking students or at least were in the process of learning the popular foreign language. Guided by their president, John Campbell, they participated in an exciting year of activities.

Their yearly program had much versatility. During the beginning months of the school year, the club sold Spanish grammar sheets for a dollar a piece to students taking that subject. Their newly-earned funds made it possible for the Bexley Spanish Club to join with Eastmoor's organization for a Christmas celebration, Spanish-style. The students ate genuine Spanish foods and enjoyed their festivities to the fullest by breaking open the customary piñata. The club not only had activities for enjoyment, but also had some serious occasions at which they learned about Spanish-speaking countries by watching interesting films.

Slaves Participate in Latin Club

Latin Club started this year with meetings featuring a guest speaker from Capital University and Danny Herrel, who showed slides that he had taken in Rome last summer. During one December meeting the members celebrated the Roman festival of Saturnalia, from which we have taken several of our Christmas customs. In February the slaves were inducted into the Latin Club with the traditional appleseed sacrifice to the gods. The slaves were those Latin I students who had received an "A" for the first semester. The slaves also played an important part in the Annual April Banquet where they were auctioned off. Besides having fun, the purpose of the banquet was to elect and induct the new officers. Several Bexley students participated in the March convention of the Ohio Junior Classical League at Mershon Auditorium. The students participated in a Roman history quiz bowl and costume and skit competition.

Bonds Sold to Promote AFS

The American Field Service Club, led by Danny Kayne and Craig Honts, held several programs this year, highlighted by the AFS assembly. At the assembly Danny spoke on his experiences in India last summer. Bexley's AFS student Anne Berggrav and other students going to schools in the city told of their experiences in the United States.

Bonds were sold in school ro raise money for the AFS student next year. Gail Schoenbaum and John Levoff were chosen as semi-finalists for the American Abroad program. Danny and Craig, as co-chairmen of Bexley's AFS, have made the club a more active and vital part of the student body.

Dinner at OSU Highlights French Club Year

French Club Officers: Seated: Gill Wright, vice-pres.; Barby Friedman, program chrm. Standing: Martha Williamson, sec.-treas.; Pam Pollack, pres.

Under the leadership of Pam Pollack, this year's French Club sponsored many activities. Several members of the club attended a dinner at Ohio State University for French students from all over the city. At Christmas time the club had a project to help some orphans in France. During the year French Club raised funds by holding bake sales and other money-making activities.

Pam and Gill do research for their next meeting.

Dramatics Club Has Active Year

The members of this year's Dramatics Club kept busy with the club's many activities, including speakers on various aspects of theatrics, such as make-up and set construction, trips to see plays at Mershon Auditorium and Otterbein College, and joint meetings with dramatics clubs from other high schools. President Robin Rosenfeld and the other members, who were frequently involved in various productions, presented scenes from several plays as entertainment at the weekly meetings.

Future Teachers Look Ahead

The aim of the Future Teachers of America is to interest high school students in the teaching profession. Under the leadership of President Mildred Tilley, those students planning to teach after college graduation took part in many enlightening programs this year.

Several speakers came to address the club. Miss Mutters from the Bexley history department discussed "Project Headstart," a government program in which pre-school aged children are prepared to enter public schools. Also, a few education students from Capital University and Ohio State University spoke to the club about college life. At one meeting, slides of Appalachian schools were shown to give the members an idea of what low-class schools are like. The club visited the OSU Museum to compare the old pioneer schools to modern-day facilities. Every activity in which FTA participated was successful this year, especially their observation program in which club members visited classes at Cassingham School.

Art Club Displays Students' Work

Art Club members participated in a variety of activities this year. With hopes of brightening up the cafeteria and adding interest to the library, the club held exhibits of students' work in those rooms. During regular meetings, members visited different galleries, such as The Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts and The Schumacher Gallery at Capital University, and hosted guest speakers. To raise money, the club sponsored a pennant sale. As in the past, members helped to prepare scenery for the Band Parents' Show, the Festival of the Arts, and the two school plays. They also designed covers for use at the various programs held at Bexley High School.

Music Fills Their Ears

Terree entertains club members with her guitar.

Music Club took part in an enjoyable year during 1968 and 1969. Its many members, under the leadership of Molly Peters, attended interesting meetings at which they listened to musical entertainment. Terree Schneider performed for the club at their first meeting where she sang the modern controversial song "Give a Damn" and the well-liked "Look of Love." Also during the year, choir and band members performed for the group. In addition to their monthly meetings, Music Club participated in other activities. At Christmas time they, like many other teenagers in Columbus, went caroling for Kinder Key. At the end of the school year, the club had a picnic with Dramatics Club. At this final meeting, officers for next year were announced.

Marksmen Gain Proficiency in Shooting

Rifle Club Officers: Ted Jacobs, pres.; Bill Angell, vice-pres.; Paul Liefeld, treas.

Rifle Club held weekly meetings at Jeffery Mansion this year where they practiced shooting for the purpose of becoming accurate marksmen. The club was under the leadership of Ted Jacobs, and the members, all Junior Members of the National Rifle Association, received medals based on their skill. These awards were received at a party which ended the year.

Science Club Prepares for District Fair

The Science Club of 1968-69 spent the year involving itself with the various fields of science. Under the leadership of President Mark Koslin, many activities were planned. Speakers came to address the club on the major areas of research and many movies were shown. Several members put aside one day each week during the year to work on various science projects. This weekly work prepared them for the spring Science Fair held at Ohio State University.

FBLA Hosts Guest Speakers

Guest speaker tells members about what to expect during a job interview.

The Future Business Leaders of America was very active in its second year. The club, designed for those students taking business courses, helped students to learn about their future careers. At regular meetings the club hosted guest speakers on such topics as "Job Interviews" and "Retail Merchandising." Other projects included corresponding with soldiers in Viet Nam and making Easter coloring books for the children in Children's Hospital. FBLA also sponsored a typing and spelling contest and awarded the winner at the Awards Assembly.

Debaters Discuss Selective Service System

With the help of student teacher Bill Saunders, Mr. Robert Peters organized a winning debate team this year. The team was made up of four members and an alternate. In addition to winning first place at Gahanna Lincoln High School, Bexley's team competed successfully at Northland, Arlington, the Academy, and North High Schools and at Ohio State. The topic debated was "Resolved: The United States should establish a system of compulsory service for all citizens." Dan Ludlum, captain of the team, was chosen Debater of the Year.

Since all of the team will be returning next year, Mr. Peters and the debaters are looking forward to an even better season in the fall of 1969.

Choir Performs for Community

Choir started off its year with the traditional "Open Rehearsal" for the parents of the choir members. The group's next performance was at the Thanksgiving Day assembly. A few weeks later they sang for the students at the Christmas assembly before vacation.

During the Christmas season the choir entertained at its annual Christmas concert, at the Christmas tree lighting on Drexel Avenue, and at the Country Club. The ensemble sang at the Bexley Women's Club. As March approached, they began practicing for district contest. The choral group closed their year by singing at the Baccalaureate service.

Band Builds New Image

Under the competent guidance of this year's new director, Mr. Michael Jenks, the Bexley High School Band saw a year of innovations. There was an obvious improvement in audience attitude, which helped to increase the spirit of the more than fifty band members.

Band enthusiasm was evident in their excellent performances through the course of the year. The musically-minded students not only formed the marching band for football season, but also organized a pep band for the basketball season, a stage band for entertainment, and a pit band which played for the spring musical. As in past years, the orchestra presented both Christmas and spring concerts and also performed at the Festival of the Arts, Baccalaureate, and graduation. For the first time, Bexley High School's band was judged in concert and received a high rating.

Some highlights of the group's extra activities, other than performances, were the Homecoming float with its theme "Bexley Band Aids a Victory," a fall hayride, the senior band trip, and the annual awards banquet.

Kneeling: Patty Ferguson and Susan Geddes. Standing: Debbie McGuire, Wayne Morrone, and Linda Weaver.

The band boosts Homecoming spirit with a float.

Varsity Cheerleaders: Lisa Margulies, Jennie Daniel, Molly Koebel, Angela Tsitouris, Mindy Klie, Barby Boesel, Chris Buhrmaster.

Cheerleaders Prompt School Spirit

Bexley's varsity cheerleaders, headed by Mindy Klie, attended Smith-Walbridge Cheerleading Camp in Syracuse, Indiana. The girls learned pom-pon routines, chants, and new cheers. Because of their spirit and ability, the girls received one first place award, one second place award, three third place awards, and the spirit stick.

Reserve cheerleaders were chosen this year and headed by Angela Tsitouris, alternate varsity cheerleader. These girls were picked according to their ability, spirit, and personality by Miss Basnett, Mrs. Blakie, and representatives of the varsity cheerleaders.

Reserve Cheerleaders: Dianne Case, Betsy Davis, April Reagan, Angela Tsitouris, Dianne Loeffler, Laurel Zahn, Jean Rostomily.

LAMPLIGHT Advises, "Think, Write, and Be Creative."

The Bexley literary magazine, the Lamplight, was very successful under the co-editorship of Eric Goulder and Gail Kaltenecker and the guidance of their advisor, Mrs. Mara Stark. As a literary magazine, the Lamplight enabled students to get their creative writing, such as poems, short stories, and essays, in print. To promote more enthusiasm in Bexley High School's prospective writers, the Lamplight sponsored a writing contest offering a prize of five dollars for the best piece of creative writing submitted for publication. The magazine was published in the spring and was sold to many interested students.

Gail and Eric proofread the LAMPLIGHT.

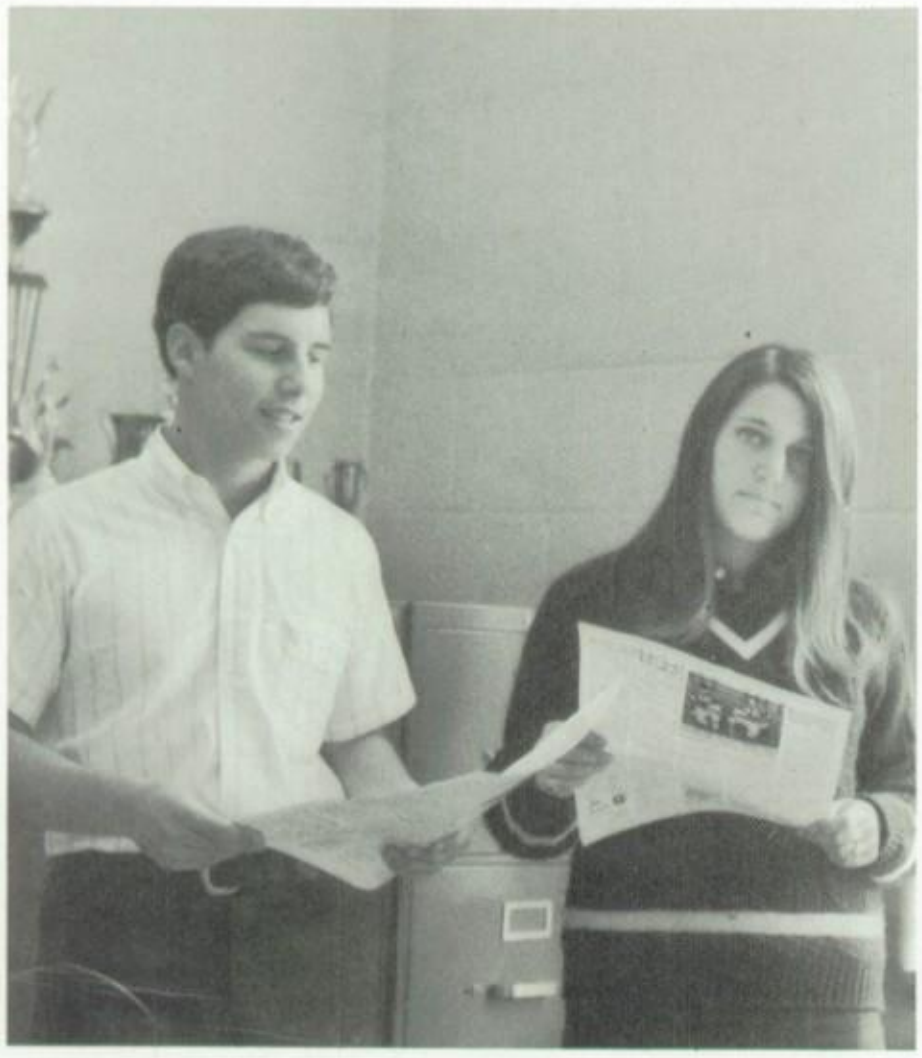
TORCH Continues Award-Winning Tradition



Dale and Gary prepare to work on a TORCH edition.

TORCH co-editors Dale Goldberg and Gary Schottenstein had much to be proud of this year. Bexley's newspaper carried on its tradition by winning the All-American rating for the seventeenth consecutive time. Under the new advisorship of Mrs. Sally Cohen, the TORCH completed a successful subscription campaign in November and continued producing award-winning editions.

Two TORCH members, Libby Davis and Pat Whitman, won first place and second place, respectively, for their stories at the Journalism Association of Ohio Schools conference, which is held annually at Ohio State University.

The year ended with a Quill and Scroll banquet at which outstanding journalists received their awards.

BEXLEO Views High School Through New Perspectives

Through its theme of perspectives, the 1969 yearbook looked at Bexley High from a new viewpoint. The theme was carried out by headlines, copy, and pictures shot from various camera angles. These pictures explored the changes in attitude a student goes through from his freshman to his senior year.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Hartranft, the staff included several new features in this year's BEXLEO. Individual pictures of underclassmen were put in for the first time. There were also more color pictures than ever before in this year's book. The greatly expanded junior staff completed most of the summer supplement, which included the spring activities.

Co-editors Laurie Schroeder and Laura Nicholl attended a special workshop for yearbook staffs at Kent State University during the summer which helped them in the publication of the 1969 BEXLEO. Many members of both the junior and senior staffs also attended a workshop which was designed to teach them the many aspects of putting a yearbook together.

attend ST. ANTHONY SCHOOL of NURSING

The life of a nurse demands much, but for those men and women who are willing to accept the challenge, the rewards of working in this most vital area of our society are great . . . the satisfaction . . . continuous and infinite.

St. Anthony School of Nursing offers a three year diploma program on an academic calendar, September through June. Class work and hospital experience are concurrent. Clinical experience is acquired at St. Anthony Hospital, presently expanding to a 600 bed hospital including a helistop atop the 16 story structure . . . a hospital that will incorporate the finest of facilities and equipment and continue to maintain its tradition of personalized care.

The million dollar St. Anthony School of Nursing Building includes attractive living quarters for women students, and multiple recreational facilities. A social director plans many inviting leisure time activities that include dances, teas, holiday parties, swimming, cook-outs, movies, theater and concert excursions. In addition, there is a well rounded program of extra-curricular activities such as glee club, drama club and championship sport teams.

Accredited by The National League for Nursing, St. Anthony School of Nursing is affiliated with the Ohio Dominican College, St. Ann's Hospital for Women, Children's Hospital and Columbus State Hospital.

Sandy,
I just can't believe that last year at this time I didn't even know you (Unreal) We have had the most fun this year Did summer ever end? Well, we're finally leaving Bexley High! I can't believe it. I'm so excited for college but I don't know what I'll do w/o you. Our Phone bills are going to be sm all! No one can ever say we had a bad senior year, you must admit it was the greatest and it would have been without you. I hope we will always be friends and remember you Promised to tell me all about it! Oh best of love ya
Cindi xo

Sandy,
I really enjoyed being friends with you. I hope our friendship will last. Just remember the S.J.C.'s, our rides, and etc. You have made my senior year very lively- Thank you. Good luck at I.U. and always. Also take good care of the Schnauzer
I ♥ U.
Love Ya,
Pam

Sandy,

Well, I can't believe it's four years, and we're still little buddies! Remember all those queer times we spend together? Try to remember Bea & Harriet jokes! Really, your really a super winner. I hope you gained a lot of knowledge from me, can't rightly say I've learned a lot from you! FAKE. take care of Johnny and his problems— MAGS '69

Barney,

Oh, gee whiz gloriosky²!!! Sandy I can hardly believe these four years are over. Oh golly ned!! remember all the fun times we had together Blah... Blah... Blah I think you're a fabulous kid and love ya (oh gee!) and I wish ya allllllll... the luck in the whole world.

I know you're not gonna stay

at Indiana
very long so I'll let you come back
and be my roommate.
Thanks for being damned
